LEARNING A TRADE.—It was a wise law of the ancient Jews that the sons of even the wealthiest men should be made to serve an apprenticeship to some useful occupation, so that in case of reverse of fortune, they might have something to "fall back upon." The same exists in Turkey, where every man, even the Sultan himself, must learn a trade. How fortunate would it be now, had it been a law in this country. "Would to God I had a trade!" is the cry of thousands of returned soldiers, North and South, who find themselves ruined in pocket, with no immediate prospect of gaining a livelihood. It should teach parents that whatever else they may give their sons, they should give them a trade.—New Yorker.

MR. WEED makes the following explanation of his connection with the Democratic Club: "An old and much esteemed personal friend, without our knowledge, 'put' our 'name up' at the Manhattan Club. It encountered, not strangely, sharp opposition, and was laid over; but finally went through. The 'Manhattan' is a Democratic Club. We should not, therefore, have applied for admission, not belonging and never expecting to belong to the Democratic Party."

A Vienna letter says that most marked official attentions are paid to the Italian Minister, while the coolness shown towards the Russian representative was decided.

LABOR RIOTS IN LUZERNE.

Authority of the Sheriff Resisted.

GOVERNOR GEARY ADVISED OF THE SITUATION.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, April 6.—The Sheriff of Luzerne county telegraphed to the Governor that a serious riot exists in Hazelton and Foster townships, in that county; that his authority is resisted with success; that armed and organized forces were necessary, and that he wished an order calling out Captain Ellis' company of Wyoming veterans. Soon after Captain Ellis telegraphed that the Sheriff had ordered him out to quell the riot and asked further orders. The Governor subsequently telegraphed to prominent citizens of Luzerne county who advised him of the exact condition of affairs. He then sent an order to Captain Ellis, ordering him to hold his company in readiness for future orders, but in no event to move without orders from him. It is unofficially understood that the cause of the riot is a strike for higher wages, the majority attempting to prevent the minority working.

United States Senate—Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, April 6, 1867.

AGRICULTURAL REPORT.

Mr. Anthony made a report from the Committee on Printing against printing additional copies of the report of the commissioner of agriculture, but providing that six thousand copies of those heretofore ordered be furnished that officer in order to meet the demands upon him.

LIBERALITY OF THE SENATE ABUSED.

Mr. Chandler said the Senate had been remarkably liberal toward nominees, and as an instance of how they expressed their gratitude, he caused to be read a newspaper article. The Clerk read in substance, that a complimentary serenade was on Thursday night tendered John W. Frazier, recently confirmed as Assessor of Internal Revenue of the First District, of Pennsylvania. This gentleman is reported to have said, in acknowledging the honor, that a number of his radical friends had invited him to return to the folds, which he declined. He did not feel under any obligations to the Senate, for he was appointed to fill a vacancy. Politically, he was still conservative, in favor of Johnson, Grant and the Supreme Court, in contradistinction to Sumner, Stevens and Butler. He was against the radical element, trampling of the constitution under foot, and the injury of the currency, &c.

NOT CALLED UP.

Mr. SUMNER did not, as was expected, call up his resolution for the expulsion of Mr. Saulsbury.

The Senate went into Executive Session.

From California Overland—Mormon Tabernacle—Fort Buford Massacre—Severity of the Winter.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 6.—Edward H. Hall, who left here on the 11th of December last for China and Japan by the Pacific Mail Line, reached this city to-day, returning from San Francisco overland. He furnishes the following items of news: General Connor arrived at Austin on the 27th of February. Maj. Gen. Chittain, on the 15th of March, was en route to Salt Lake City. The Mormon temple and tabernacle at Salt Lake is advancing rapidly to completion.

No foundation exists for the reported massacre at Fort Buford.

The winter has been, as generally reported, one of unprecedented severity. Thousands of cattle, horses, mules and some few families, perished with cold, and a number of stations on the Overland Mail Line had been kept supplied with provisions at great cost and labor, snows in many places rendering the roads impassable for miles. In the vicinity of Salt Lake City the thermometer ranged from 33 to 40 deg. below zero for several days during March.

Central Pacific Railroad—Western Extension—Surveys Completed.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—The surveys of the Western Extension of the Central Pacific Railroad, from Sacramento to a point opposite this city, are so far completed as to develop a favorable line less than eighty-three miles in length. The present route to the State capitol, by water, is about one hundred and twenty miles long. The terminus will be on Goat Island, in the Bay, one mile and a half from the city wharf. It is expected the road will be completed about the time the line is opened from the Eastern States.

FIVE HOURS' FIGHT TAKES PLACE.

Americans Arrested at Matamoras.

FILLIBUSTERING SCHEME OF SANTA ANNA.

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—Brownsville dates to the 3d, Monterey to the 27th, Saltillo to the 27th, and San Luis to the 20th, have been received.

There were no new features in the siege of Fueralatra. The Republicans are not disposed to assault, but hoped to capture the city by starving out the Imperialists.

Letters from well known merchants of Zacatecas say the last news from Queretaro—to the 12th—was to the effect that the Imperialists attempted a sally, but were driven in with 15 killed.

Parfiero Diaz was in Guadaloupe, one league from the City of Mexico.

Riva Palecio was in Tacugoga with a force of 20,000 men.

The reported capture of the heights of Tacampa and the fortifications of Locouse is authoritatively denied.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Herald's specials from San Luis Potosi, via Galveston, deny the report of the defeat of Escobedo. On the contrary, it is said Maximilian's forces made a sortie from Queretaro and were driven back, after five hours hard fighting. Both armies are being reinforced. Escobedo has drawn in his lines, leaving open one road from the City of Mexico.

Forced loans were levied in all the Liberal cities.

Several Americans were arrested at Bagdad for assaulting a Mexican guard.

The Mexican Minister at Washington has reliable information that Santa Anna is organizing a fillibustering force for the invasion of Mexico. The party is known as an imigration society, and has many military notables among its members.

Steamship Launched—Emigrants During March—Sailed for Europe.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The steamship Cleopatria, built for Arthur Leary, for the Pacific trade, was launched to-day. She is 1,400 tons register.

During the month of March 14,171 emigrants arrived at this port.

Mrs. Senator Sprague and Capt. Pierson, of Maximilian's Cabinet, sailed for Europe to-day.

The Mississippi Levees.

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—The levees above continue unfavorable. The Mayor of Baton Rouge telegraphs that Hall's Levee is in imminent danger.

Miss Dix, the Philanthropist.

In an exchange we find the following admirable pen and ink portrait of Miss Dix, the philanthropist, which will be read with interest by her numerous friends and admirers hereabouts:

"Here, then, is Miss Dix: A sedate, kindly expressioned lady in black, really about fifty-five years of age, but looking younger. Rather above the medium size, and, when standing, presenting a commanding figure. Her hair is not very dark, and the few silver threads are only observable in the strongest light. Her eye, the distinguishing feature, strikes you at first as black, it is so clear and lustrous when she speaks, but it is, in fact, gray. Her face is attractive, and while denoting strong character, is lighted up by a very conciliatory smile, which seems to ripple about the eyes rather than the lips. She dresses in black, and with a becoming severity of style. About the neck she wears a white gauze kerchief, crossed in front and fastened with a gold cross. On her fingers are a variety of odd rings, none very valuable except the one with the brilliant pearl. They all look like sovenirs of the past, are evidently presents, and worn from some pleasant association connected with her benevolent mission. There is a witching persuasiveness in her voice, and a clear, confident precision in her accents have the most convincing effect on the listener. Any one who hears her speak can understand why her tones are so quieting and imperative to the insane, whose wildest ravings she has often controlled by the magic talisman of her voice and the perfect composure of her manner.

So appears Miss Dorothea L. Dix, as she sits in an alcove of the State library in Albany, answering her numerous letters, which she does in a bold, masculine hand, and with much celerity. She is only found here for a few days or weeks during the session of the Legislature, and Senators and members of Assembly are frequently dropping in to consult her about the new asylum. She has no home but her country. She travels alone, stops at hotels, and declines the numerous tenders of private hospitality, invitations to dine and tea, which would monopolize the time which she has devoted to the one grand purpose of her life. To all applications to take part in fairs and festivals, or to be present at public demonstrations, she uniformly says no. Her letters are usually addressed to Trenton, N. J., where she has a room in the insane hospital which she aided in founding; but she only stays there a few weeks during the whole year. Miss Dix is literally a cosmopolitan, and her only home is where she happens to be laboring in her philanthropic mission. As she never asks or receives any donations for her own use, it may be presumed that she receives an annual income from her private investments, which places her beyond any anxiety about her own support. In her habits she is very methodic and regular, rising at 5 o'clock in the morning and retiring at 10 at night."

One Hundred Thousand Bachelors—Celibacy in Paris—A Spartan Custom not Practicable.

The increase of celibacy in France, and especially in Paris, is still a subject of discussion. The government which wants soldiers, the manufacturers who want hands, the farmers who want laborers, and last, but not least, the women who want husbands, ask everybody, ask each other, ask in perplexity and consternation, "Why don't the men marry?" Pere Hyacinth preaches against celibacy at Notre Dame, the newspapers preach against it at the street corners; yet, as one of them despairingly remarks, in an hour's walk from the Madeleine to the Bastile, one may now meet at least a hundred thousand bachelors.

In former times, continues this writer, an unmarried man was obliged to exhaust his ingenuity in framing excuses for his condition. "Alas, I am yet the victim of betrayed affection." "Alas, my villain of a notary has made away with all my fortune." Alas, I am like Werther, I am in love with a woman who is already married." "Alas, I have suffered much." "Alas, I am like Antony, I dare not mention the name of her I love." But no one ever dared to avow his final impenitence, he appealed to the compassion of his friends for a temporary misfortune, and they, credulous, were willing to exclaim, "The poor fellow, he is a bachelor in spite of himself!"

But all that is changed now. From the top to the bottom of the social scale comes the unblushing asseveration, "I am a bachelor, I have been a bachelor, and I always will be a bachelor," and reasons are as fertile as formerly excuses. "I will not marry, because I wish to extend my youth to my last days," "I will not marry, because in 1867 it costs too much to dress a wife." "I will not marry, because I want to have peace at home." "I will not marry, because I want to be able to spend the evening where I please without being obliged to give an account of myself." "I will not marry because I dread a mother-in-law more than hydrophobia and earthquakes."

The writer who laments these facts waxes learned, and remembers that in Sparta celibacy was considered a disgrace, and that at a certain yearly festival it was the custom for the women to drive all bachelors out of the temple of Venus with myrtle branches gathered on the borders of the Eurotas. As certain difficulties stand in the way of the revival of this classic custom, it is proposed to impose an annual tax instead upon all unmarried men.—Paris Correspondence New York Evening Post.

Royal Gossip and Scandal.

A London letter gives the following:

The Queen has left off the habiliments of woe, and (rumor has it) is looking for an eligible person to supply the place of the late Prince Consort. It is well known that the Court itself, since Prince Albert's death, has been becoming demoralized, and the marriage of the Princess Beatrice to a man with a wife and five children, has about completed the work. The marriage is now said to be an unhappy one, the Prince Teck loving his first wife only, and marrying the Princess Beatrice simply for the sake of getting money to support himself and family. It is more than Court gossip—it is a well authenticated fact—that the Princess Alexandria is leading a very unhappy sort of a life. Her husband is very dissipated, and plays the part of a very tyrant in their domestic life. It is said that he has kept a mistress in his own household in the person of Lady Amelia B——d for this last year, that he frequents the lowest dens of vice in London, and he is now crazy in love with the Dowager Duchess of A——, a widow twenty-eight years of age. In regard to the second charge, a friend of mine—a New Yorker who was bound to see all the sights and know the ropes of the Metropolis—assured me that while visiting these places, the Prince of Wales was twice pointed out by the detective who accompanied him. At any rate, the Prince is going to Paris to attend the opening of the Exhibition in May, and the Princess will not accompany him on account of family quarrels.

REJECTED NOMINATIONS.

The Senate rejected George M. Robinson as Receiver of Public Money at Manaska, Wisconsin; also F. M. Field as Postmaster at Lexington, Mo., and W. Davis as Postmaster at Bloomington, Ind.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS.

A gentleman here, well informed on Mexican affairs, disbelieves the report by way of Vera Cruz, of General Escabedo's defeat. The following is an extract from a letter received in Washington to-day, dated Vera Cruz, March 22d:

"The Imperial Commissioner at Puebla leaves by the steamer Alabama, and this shows how little confidence the people have in the success of the Empire. Passengers from the interior report that Gen. Diaz was attacking the City of Puebla, being already in possession of the outer works and a great part of the city. The Imperialists were reduced the plaza or square and by this time they have undoubtedly been captured, and Gen. Diaz will be left free to march on the city of Mexico, where he had already a large portion of his army in good position."

THADDEUS STEVENS ILL.

Hon. Thaddeus Stevens has been confined to his bed ever since Wednesday last, from general prostration and an affection of the heart. Secretary Seward called this afternoon, but Mr. Stevens was too ill to see him and other inquiring friends.

THE RUSSIAN TREATY.

Within a few days past there have been large contributions of facts, from various sources, concerning the character of the Russian-American territory, serving to show that comparatively little has heretofore been known concerning it. In consequence of these new revelations, there is a better prospect than there was a week ago for the ratification of the pending treaty.

Floods in Arizona.—Miners Attacked by Indians.—Nephew of Senator Buckalew Badly Wounded.—Steamship Line Competition.—Aid for the Destitute South.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—Late advice from Arizona Territory state that great damage has been occasioned by floods. Arizona City was inundated and several houses washed away.

The Apache Indians had attacked the men in charge of the Mowery mine, and killed one and wounded several. Oscar Buckalew, nephew of United Senator Buckalew, of Pennsylvania, was dangerously wounded; five Indians were killed and a number wounded. The savages were well armed with guns and rifles.

The ships Archer and St. Charles, from New York, have arrived.

The California steam navigation and California, Oregon and Mexican Steamship Companies, the latter known as Ben Holladay's line, have combined to obtain the withdrawal of the Anchor Line Steamship Oregon route. The price of freights has been raised to the old figures.

Leading bankers and capitalists of this city have purchased the steamships Idaho, Montana and Oregonian, and purpose placing an opposition line of steamers to New York via Panama. It is understood the vessels already make connection on the Atlantic side.

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night to aid the destitute people in the Southern States. Governor Low was President. Over eleven thousand dollars were subscribed, and arrangements made to make collections throughout the Pacific States. Express, navigation, railroad, stage and telegraph companies offered gratuitous services.

FROM HAYTI.

The Revolutionary Movement Subsiding—Quietude at Latest Advices.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Additional news has been received from Hayti. The revolutionary movement was led by Victor Chevalae, some time an exile, who landed secretly at St. Mars. General Sogis had been elected President, but declined, and until another election the present government will be administered by the principal Secretary of State. General Solnave had returned from Hayti, and taken command of the northern department. All was quiet at the latest advices, and the revolution was peaceful. The political movements, general discontent and the embarrassed state of the treasury are the causes.

Shooting Affray—Probable Murder.

ALBANY, April 6.—A shooting affray occurred here this evening, which it is likely will prove fatal. Two young men, named Butrie and McLaughlin, while walking together were assaulted by a third, named Ellis, who had had some misunderstanding with Butrie. Approaching, he said to Butrie, "I am going to shoot you," whereupon Butrie ran off and fell just as Ellis fired. The shot missed its aim, when Ellis, turning, fired his second shot at McLaughlin, who had not moved. The ball penetrated one of his lungs, and it is reported he cannot recover. Ellis is under arrest.

The Fort Buford Massacre.—The Report Unfounded.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS April 6.—The reported massacre at Fort Buford is unfounded. Additional evidence has been received here in the shape of letters from Fort Rice, dated February 25th, which make no mention of Mrs. Col. Rankin's arrival there, as represented in the letter published in Philadelphia. Gen. Sherman has a letter from Col. Rankin of date subsequent to the time the massacre is said to have been committed.

Child Killed—A Charge of Murder—Coroner's Inquest.

About one o'clock on Saturday afternoon a little boy, named Adam Bans, was run over by car 31, of the Citizens Passenger Railway, in the Borough of Lawrenceville, and almost instantly killed. The driver of the car, John Langfeit, was arrested a short time after the accident, and taken before Justice Jancey, who committed him to jail on a charge of murder.

Coroner Clawson being summoned, held an inquest on the body, when the following facts were elicited in evidence:

Michael Monahan, sworn—I am conductor of car 31, which ran over the child; was inside collecting fare, felt a jar and ran to the rear of the car and saw the child lying on the track after it had been run over; there was no person on the front platform but the driver; the accident occurred in front of Wainwright street, on Butler; the car was going slowly, the horses only walking; the accident happened at ten minutes before one o'clock on Saturday afternoon, April 6th; the driver is a sober man; never heard of him having an accident before.

Charles C. Atkinson sworn—Was standing on the rear platform of the car, which was going at a moderate speed; felt two distinct jars; jumped off and discovered the child; picked it up from the track and carried it into the house, and sent for a doctor; the child was not dead when I carried it in; did not hear any one halloo.

John W. Evans, sworn—Got into the car at the Cemetery and was coming to the city; when near Wainright street felt a jar; looked out and saw a man pick up something; could not see what it was; think certainly that the driver did not know he had run over the child; was driving slow and paying attention to a call from a passenger wishing to get on; all the driver said was that he asked me what was the matter, and appeared to feel sorry; the car window was down; did not hear any person halloa, stop.

John Dexter, sworn—Was about three hundred yards from the car when the accident occurred; saw a little child crawling toward the horses between the two tracks; the swingle tree struck the child on the head, and it then rolled under the wheels of the car; halloed at the driver to stop that he had run over a child. He said he did not know it. The child was apparently going away from home; I feel satisfied the driver did not know he had run over the child.

Dr. James Robinson, sworn—About one o'clock on Saturday was called to see a child which was reported to have been run over by a car; went and examined the child and found a number of wounds on the child, all of which were sufficient to cause death in any person; was evidently run over by a car wheel.

Jacob Ott, sworn—At the time of the accident was standing at Bans' door; saw the child when it was about six feet from the horses; halloed at the driver very loudly and think the driver heard me; saw the child picked up; the driver looked in my face when I halloed; I halloed three times.

Anthony Engel, sworn—Was in my shop at the corner opposite to Bans'; saw the child fall under the car; the driver was looking in an opposite direction from where the child fell under; car ran a short distance before it stopped; was a little east of Wainright street; think the driver did not see it; did not hear any one halloa; saw the accident through the window of the shop.

The jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by being accidentally run over by car No. 31 of the Citizens Passenger Railway, thereby exonerating the driver from any blame in the premises.

An application will be made to-day in the Criminal Court for the discharge of Langfeit on bail.

An Officer in Trouble.

Brown Dawson and officer Jeremiah Smith were arrested on Saturday and brought before Mayor Morrison, charged with having committed an aggravated assault upon William Einstein, on Troy Hill. From the deposition of the latter it appeared that Dawson had some difficulty with Einstein about money that the latter owed the former. The quarrel resulted in Einstein shoving Dawson violently, whereupon the assaulted party repaired to the office of Alderman Mullen and preferred a charge of assault and battery. A warrant was issued immediately and placed in the hands of Officer Smith, who, in company with Dawson, proceeded to Troy Hill for the purpose of arresting the accused.

They found Einstein in "Our House" which he refused to leave until the officer would show him his warrant or authority for making the arrest. Strange to state, Smith refused to produce the warrant, but instead drew forth a pistol and told Einstein that if he resisted another instant he would blow his brains out. Dawson, inspired with courage by the conduct of Smith, placed his hand in his breast poket and made a similar threat. Fearing violence Einstein accompanied them to the office of Alderman Mullen, where he entered bail for a hearing and was released. As soon as he was at liberty he proceeded to Mayor Morrison's office, and made oath as stated. Smith entered bail in the sum of five hundred dollars for a hearing, and Dawson, being unable to get security, was forced to remain in the lock-up for the present.

If the facts in the case are as above stated, the conduct of Smith on this occasion was highly reprehensible, and he should be severely dealt with for assuming such arbitrary powers. Einstein had a perfect right to see the warrant before he would take a step, and if he had knocked his assailants down when they laid hands upon him, the Court would have justified the act. Officers should remember that there is a limit to their authority.

Auscultation and Dr. Keyser's Lung Sound.

When LAENNEC, who was the first to introduce to the medical profession auscultation as a means of determining the exact state of the lungs by listening to the respiration, he met with but little favor. The novelty of his invention excited not a little attention, and its being so different from that mode of examination which had existed since the commencement of the Christian era, up to his time, 1816, it was denounced as quacking, and unworthy the dignity of the profession. It is needless, however, to observe that at the present day, Laennec's mode of examining the lungs is, in some form or other, resorted to by nearly all medical men who make any pretensions toward the cure of lung disease in any of its manifold varieties. Is it not mete then that the human mind should exert itself in its devotion to that science whose function it is to ameliorate the condition of the human race, especially with regard to a disease which annually sweeps its untold millions to untimely graves! Our answer is a plain one. It is. And he, whoever he may be, who adds but a little to the accumulated lore of ages, is entitled to the meed of praise from which none but a bigot, who desires to stand still, will demur. We desire to invite attention more especially to a new instrument, called "LUNG SOUND," partly the invention of Dr. Keyser, of this city, which, he claims, acts to the ear, as the microscope does to the eye, and renders the normal and abnormal sounds, in respiring, as plain to the ear as though the walls of the chest were made of glass instead of opake flesh and flood.

Divorce Case.

In the Court of Common Pleas, Saturday, was presented the petition of Mary A. Leech, by her next friend, Oliver E. Cornelius, praying for a divorce from her husband, John B. Leech, on the ground of desertion. She avers that she was joined in marriage with him on Nov. 23d, 1862, lived and cohabited with him, in all respects demeaning herself as a wife should, until September 27th, 1864, from which time he has wilfully and maliciously deserted and absented himself from her society and habitation, and refused to maintain and support her, as he was bound to do, without any just or reasonable cause.

Shocking Affair on the Pennsylvania Railroad—Train Thrown from the Track—One of the Parties Arrested.

One of the most atrocious attempts to destroy life that has come under our notice for a long time, occurred about one mile east of Wall's Station, on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, yesterday. The Cincinnati express that left the Union Depot at eleven o'clock, was thrown off the track at the place designated above, by encountering a number of ties and a couple of kegs of nails, which had been placed across the rails, the obstructions extending the entire breadth of the road. The engineer, Robert Kerr, did not notice anything in the way until within a short distance of the barricade, and the speed of the train being very great, all his endeavors to stop the engine and prevent the approaching catastrophe proved futile. With a crashing report that could have been heard for a great distance, the locomotive dashed against the ties and nails, the concussion throwing it headlong to the other track, while the baggage and two of the four passenger cars followed suit. For almost a quarter of a mile the half wrecked cars, now freed from the restrait of the rails, sped onward, leaping from tie to tie, until at length the engine struck the end of a sleeper and capsized, burying in its ruins engineer Kerr and another employee of the road named Peter McCauley. The track on both sides, from where the obstructions were placed to where the engine stopped, was torn up, presenting an ugly scene of destruction, while the two cars which had followed to the locomotive were considerably shattered. Three men were observed standing close to the obstructions, two of whom decamped, but the third was arrested and brought to this city, where he was locked up in the tombs for a hearing. He refused to give his name, and on being questioned as to why he did the deed of which he was charged, his only reply was "I don't know." Although plied by a hundred queries he refused to give anything but that same reply, and sat in the furthest corner of the cell during the greater part of the night with his face buried in his hands, moaning low as if to himself. A great number of those who have seen him, doubt his saneness, but that will be a matter to be determined by the medical fraternity. Since his arrest the evidence of his criminality has multiplied. McCauley and Kerr are both seriously injured, the former having had one of his feet cut off and his leg broken, while the other was severely scalded by the steam from the boiler of the engine.

A young man named Bracken, a brakeman on the train, was injured to such an extent that his death is looked for each hour. Quite a number of others were more or less injured, but none seriously.

The motive that those wretches had for the perpertration for such a hellish deed cannot even be guessed at, unless it was with the expectation of having an opportunity afforded them for the robbery of the mail and passengers.

—Since writing the above, we learn that at an early hour this morning two men named respectively Peter Howard and Thomas Price, were arrested on a charge of complicity in the diabolical deed of obstructing the track. They were arrested at the Ninth ward coke ovens.

We learn that the name of the man arrested at the scene of the catastrophe is Monahan, and the police remember him as the person arrested on Wylie street some two months ago, while begging, attention being attracted to him by his playing "dummy," and throwing away articles of food given him as he passed from house to house.

Martin L. Bracken is the name of the brakesman injured. His right thigh is fractured, and besides is internally injured to such an extent that it is thought he cannot recover. He was taken to his boarding-house, on Walnut street, in the Fifth ward. He is about thirty years of age, and has a wife and child residing at New Florence, Westmoreland county.

Amusements.

RISTORI.—To-night Ristori, the great Italian artiste, the tragedienne who has created a furore wherever she has appeared, in the old or new world, will hold forth at the New Opera House. The occasion will prove a memorable one to all who attend; it will call forth the youth, fashion and beauty of the two cities and neighboring localities within a radius of fifty miles. Certainly in fashionable circles of society it will be regarded almost equivalent to crime to fail embracing the opportunity of seeing and hearing the magnificent queen of the theatrical world—"the missionary of art." Already a large number of seats have been disposed of, but, thanks to the discretion of Manager Henderson, the space has not all been reserved, as choice quarters have been assigned both nights for new comers, or persons who are tardy in deciding whether to be in attendance. The box book remains open and we urge those who have thus far delayed securing seats to make early application.

Ristori appears to-night in the historical play, written for her in the Italian language, entitled Elizabeth, Queen of England. The idea of the author seems to have been to throw together, regardless of plot, many thrilling and deeply affecting scenes in the life of Elizabeth, in order to display to the best possible advantage, the unequaled abilities of the great historian. It is impossible for us here to give any outline of the striking parts of the play, nor would it be of any service to readers who may attend, if we were to publish the entire tragedy, since Ristori and the talented troupe accompanying her, will interpret every line by peculiar, remarkable and eminent acting.

To-morrow evening, Ristori appears as Mary Stuart, Queen of Scots. If the immortal Schiller were above the grave to-day he could ask no more recognition of his genius in producing the powerful tragedy than Ristori deserves for its interpretation. But all will be in attendance, and unless the world has combined to deceive, Ristori will not fail to enrapture the brilliant and intelligent audiences which will greet her in Pittsburgh.

VARIETIES THEATRE.—The great farce and take-off "Restore-her" will be produced by the immense company now playing at the Varieties Theatre. New attractions are offered each evening.

CITY HALL.—Fred. Douglas, the colored orator lectures at City Hall to-morrow night

Queer Fun.

A German, rejoicing in the horticultural cognomen of Gotleib Plum, has been indulging of late in the rather questionable amusement of beating his wife, Annette. This drama of real life was anything but pleasant to the sensative weaker vessel, who being desirous of diversifying the performance, appeared before Alderman Taylor, on Saturday, and made oath against Gotleib for assault and battery.

On the appearance of the officer in the domicil of the unhappy pair, armed with documentary authority to take possession of the body of the pugnacious Plum, the latter grew terribly indignant and picking up a chair aimed a blow at the head of the unsuspecting policeman. The latter adroitly dodged the missile and leaped to a back door just in time to prevent Plum from dodging him. Here Annette interfered and endeavored, by sweet words of gentle pleading, to dissuade the officer from the performance of his duty. But her efforts in an unworthy cause proved unavailing, and the ungallant Benedict was arraigned before the magistrate mentioned, when he was made to give bail in the sum of three hundred dollars for a hearing on Tuesday. From present appearances the affair will be amicably adjusted, as Annette is sorely exercised over what she foolishly regards as her haste in prosecuting her liege lord. The best place for Gotleib is the county jail, where, in the course of three months, he might learn that there is such a thing as a man perpetrating an assault and battery on his "better-half."

Counterfeit Money by Express—Arrest of the Consignees.

Acting upon information received, detectives in this city were on the look out, Saturday, for the arrival, by express, of a package of counterfeit national currency, addressed to "Samuel Weil, care of Sigismund Moses, Pittsburgh." The persons named called at the Express office, received and receipted for the package, and were soon after arrested by a detective, who was watching for them. Unfortunately, however, for the ends of justice, the p[illegible]kage [illegible]s not found in their possession, the pa[illegible] having, it is supposed, after the cas[illegible] [illegible]ckpockets, adroitly managed to [illegible] confederate in the street. Th[illegible] [illegible]ons were taken before Commissioner Sproull, who [illegible] them for a hearing on a charge of re[illegible] [illegible]unterfeit money with intent to defra[illegible] Moses is a Pittsburgher, and Weil is fro[illegible] Philadelphia.

Robbery of $10,000 on the Monongahela.

One of the Brownsville packets, shortly after leaving that port on Saturday night, was robbed of a package of money belonging to the Adams Express Company amounting to $10,000

The money was in the safe in the clerk's office, where the messenger was lying asleep. The thief, it is supposed, took the key of the safe from the pocket of the messenger, while the latter was asleep, and abstracted the money, getting off at the next landing—a place called Benville. No clue to the robber has yet been obtained.

Jewelry Stolen.

Mary Magraw appeared before Alderman Donaldson, on Saturday, and made oath against Rebecca Davis for larceny. The accused is charged with having purloined from the residence of the prosecutrix, in the Fourth Ward, a set of jet jewelry valued at $15,00. Rebecca was arrested and made to give bail in the sum of $200 for a hearing tomorrow.

Almost a Duel—An Actor One of the Principals.

The code duello has not been recognized among our staid burgers of late as a rectifier of wrongs, and it, therefore, is a matter of some surprise that any person in the community should have the temerity to resurrect the barbaric practice. Yet such a man does exist, breathing the pure oxygen of heaven, in a small room on the second floor of Mrs. B——s' boarding house, on Third street. He is an agent for a mercantile association, and claims to be a worthy scion of a noble house in Scotland, distantly related to the author of "Kenilworth," and withal a man of good address and many gentlemanly attainments. Occupying a room on the same floor with this gentleman is a histronic cuss, who is, at present, engaged at the Opera House, and who, a few evenings since, insulted the Scotchman by purloining from his chamber a valuable umbrella. On their meeting an altercation of a very unpleasant nature occurred, which terminated in the man of noble antecedents retiring to the narrow confines of his room and directing therefrom a challenge to mortal combat, couched in high sounding terms, that would admit of neither explanation nor apology. This epistle was received by the knight of the sock and buskin with all the gravity its dread contents merited and a note of acceptance was dispatched by a third party to the gentlemen on the "second floor front." The latter set about making the necessary preparations for the encounter, and on Friday evening last directed his trunk and other valuables to his friends in Scotland, with the full expectation of the duel having a fatal termination for him. Arrangements were made by friends of the would-be combatants to have the affair come off on Coal Hill, early on Saturday morning, but by this time the courage of the actor oozed out and the redoubtable Scotchman had his venom appeased by an apologetic note from the player, promising that in the future the umbrella of the former should be considered as sacred as the escutcheon of his father. Thus what might have been a very serious affair, terminated to the satisfaction of all concerned.

That Triumphal Arch,

Who that witnessed the grand soldiers demonstration in this city, in September last, does not recollect the magnificent triumphal arch erected on Pennsylvania Avenue. This arch will be the subject of controversy in the District Court, this week, Michael L. Malone, the constructor, having brought suit for compensation. It was built it seems, at the instance of committees of citizens of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards, and the amount of the bill rendered was two hundred and fifty dollars. After being referred from one party to another, in his attempt to secure his pay, and every one denying any responsibility, save two or three persons who paid their share, Mr. Malone was forced to bring suit, and there is a strong probability of his being awarded his just dues at the hands of a jury. The parties who have paid their share are John M. Killen, Esq., of the Eighth ward, and S. B. Cluley and Jacob H. Walter, Esqs., of the Sixth ward. The Seventh ward Committee is alleged to be in default, and will make a defense to the claim made against them, about one hundred and thirty dollars. Perhaps, the matter may be arranged and the trial thus avoided.

Shooting Affray in the Eighth Ward.

On Friday night a disgraceful disturbance occurred at the house of Mrs. Johnson, in the Eighth ward. The police were called to suppress the row, and in order to do so, they arrested a young man named Robert Fowler, who seemed to be the principal actor in the tumultuous scene. While officer Dressler was conveying Fowler to the tombs a crowd of roughs interfered and rescued the prisoner, whereupon the policeman fired two shots at the crowd, one of which took effect in Fowler's right thigh. Notwithstanding the wound, he escaped, but was re-arrested on Saturday and lodged in jail. His wound, though very painful, is not of a dangerous character.

Young Men's Christian Association.—Professor Brewer, of Yale College, lectures at Masonic Hall on Thursday and Fridas evenings of this week. His lecture on the "Mountain Scenery of California" is pronounced superb by the Eastern papers. The lecture will be free to all members of the Association; to others, fifty cents. Tickets can be had at the music and book stores and the rooms of the Association, No. 23 Fifth street. These lectures are given by the Association for popular instruction and, we hope the public will attend them both for their own benefit and to somewhat lighten the expenses of the Young Men's Christian Association in securing them.

Larceny as Bailee.—A follower of Aesculapius named Dr. Honekee, of Lawrenceville, appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and made oath charging a tailor named Anderson with larceny as bailee. The prosecutor alleged that he gave Anderson a quantity of cloth from which he expected a suit of clothing to be made for himself. On going to the "Knight of the Shears" some days after, he was coolly informed that the cloth was non est; that it had disappeared he knew not whither. This explanation failed to satisfy the Doctor, and he accordingly made information as stated. A warrant has been issued.

The Penalty of a Foolish Act.—James Stepleton, a man of middle years, residing on Penn street, attempted, yesterday, to perform an impossible thing, and came near losing his life through his folly. It appears that he was on the front platform of car No. 36 on the Citizens Passenger Railway, and as it was passing another car, which was coming in, attempted to jump to the second car while both were in motion. Of course he was thrown under the wheels and very fortunately escaped with his life. His right foot was badly crushed and will probably have to be amputated. So much for foolhardiness.

The Free Whisky Bill.—The applications filed for tavern license, under the new whisky bill, up to Saturday noon, numbered one hundred and twenty-six, or an average of twenty-one per day since the first instant. Clerk Brown says the next list will be a large one. As the persons operating under licenses having some time to run are not as yet applying for a renewal, and the majority of those now applying are about to embark in the business, some idea may be formed as to the liberality of new law as compared with the old.

Declined to Serve.—Pritchard Parsons having been elected Supervisor of Jefferson township without his knowledge and consent, and in his absence, and being so situated as to prevent him discharging the duties of the office, petitioned the Court on Saturday to accept his resignation and appoint some one in his stead. J. R. Large, Esq., presented the petition, and suggested the name of John Payne. The resignation was accepted, and Mr. Payne appointed to fill the vacancy.

New Sunday Paper.—The Leader has at length found a rival in the Allegheny Blatter, a new Sunday quarto paper, printed in German, and to be issued every Sunday. The first number was laid upon our desk yesterday, and after careful examination we found that it contained much better English than the other Sunday journal. C. F. Bauer, Esq., is the editor and proprietor of the new paper, and we wish him the success worthy his enterprise. It will be published in the Dispatch building.

The Leader, yesterday, contained the following paragraph: "The Gazette, noticing the enormous advance in rents in the city this spring, attributes it to the strikes of the mechanics for higher wages." Not so. The GAZETTE never said anything which could be so construed. Careless reading is a grave fault, especially in an editor, and the Leader man must plead guilty to misrepresenting our views on the high rent question.

Beat a Boy.—Mr. Markstone is a music teacher, and lives on Sixth street. He has become quite familiar with sweet sounds during the many years of his professional life, and has beat time to everything from a triangle to a violincello. He attempted to change the beat on Saturday by beating a little son of Mrs. Ellen Kemp, for doing which he was arrested and brought before Alderman Strain, who held him in $300 for a hearing.

Rule on Constables.—The Court of Quarter Sessions, Saturday, granted a rule on William McCully and G. F. Vogle, of Birmingham, to show cause why their appointments as deputies should not be recinded, because they are not residents of the township in and for which A. Stein, by whom they were deputized, was elected. The rule is made returnable on Saturday next.

Common Pleas Court.—Before Hon. Thomas Mellon.

James O'Connor vs. owners steam tow boat "Fox." The jury in this case were unable to agree and were discharged by the Court on Saturday morning.

Court will meet this (Monday) morning at ten o'clock. See trial list elsewhere given.

One of Our Aldermen gave a prominent member of the Pittsburgh Bar a severe thrashing on Saturday, whereupon the abused attorney appeared before a neighboring magistrate and instituted no less than four charges against his assailant. He would doubtless have added to the list had his legal knowledge extended any further.

Assault and Battery.—A youth named Edward McCabe was before Alderman Taylor, yesterday, charged with committing an assault and battery, by beating Emilie Cramer and Adam Hall with a club, and subsequently striking them with stones. The accused gave bail for his appearance at Court to answer the charge.

A Bridge is to be constructed over Chartiers creek, on the line of Robinson and North Fayette township, on the Pittsburgh and Noblestown road, with a sixty feet span and ten feet high. The location has been approved by the Court, as submitted by the viewers, Messrs R. Patton, John Young, Jr., and A. M. McFarland.

Gave Bail.—Patrick McSteen was before Alderman Strain on Saturday, charged with the larceny of a coat from the clothing establishment of A. Aronson, corner of St. Clair and Liberty streets. He was liberated on giving bail for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.

Contested Election.—A petition has been presented to the Court of Common Pleas praying that the election in Harrison township be set aside, for irregularity in the matter of selecting School Directors, or in designating the terms for which they were elected.

Warrant Issued.—Rosenburg appeared before Alderman Strain, on Saturday, and lodged an information charging Jacob Minck with having cruelly beaten and abused him without the slightest provocation for the assault. A warrant was issued.

Deer Creek Bridge.—Citizens having petitioned for a bridge over Deer Creek, in West Deer township, the Court has appointed as viewers Messrs. C. Snively, artist, P. Hutchison and A. Marvin to locate and report as to the necessity for the structure.

The Coroners Inquest on the body of the child found dead in the Sixth ward, a few days since, terminated, on Saturday in a verdict that the deceased had come to its death by violence, at the hands of some persons to the jury unknown.

Committed.—George McNamery, whose arrest for larceny we mentioned a few days since, was committed to jail yesterday by Mayor Morrison in default of the requisite bail.

Insurance.—The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of a strictly reliable and successful Life Insurance Company for a General Agent.

No Sentences were pronounced in the Criminal Court on Saturday, and the session was occupied in the transaction of the usual miscellaneous business.

Ristori.—A number of choice orchestra seats for Ristori's nights can be obtained at the office of Weldon & Kelly, Wood street, one door below Sixth,

Torn Down.—A frame block of buildings on the corner of Federal and Wylie streets, preparatory to the erection of new houses.

MUNSON'S COPPER TUBULAR
LIGHTNING RODS.
With Spiral Flanges.
This Rod has the power to carry off as much electricity as twenty common iron rods; in other words is equal to a solid bar of iron thirty inches in circumference. It does not rust; it cannot get out of order. It has received the first premiums at very many State and District Fairs and Institutes. It was never beaten in any contest. It has been recommended by several hundred Professors in the best Schools and Colleges in the United States, as the best Rod ever invented. In this list we may name Philotus Dean, Professor of Natural Sciences, Pittsburgh High School; George Woods, President Western University of Pennsylvania, and I. C. Pershing, President Pittsburgh Female College.
Among the hundreds of buildings upon which this Rod was erected within the past year in this vicinity we may mention the Locomotive Works; Banner Cotton Mill Allegheny Flouring Mills; First Presbyterian Church of Allegheny; Second Ward School House, Pittsburgh; City Poor House, Pittsburgh; St. Bridget's Church, Pittsburgh, &c., &c. In the surrounding country many of these Rods have been erected on residences or public buildings. It may be examined on the Lutheran Church at Johnstown; on the Disciples Church at New Castle; on Dr. Reed's residence Hickory; on residences of Esquire Jancey, Lawrenceville; E. M. Fulton, McKeesport; Wm. Ewing, Frankfort Springs; S. P. & J. S. Large, Elizabethtown; Col. Wm. Miller, Port Perry; P. Baker, Nevile Island; J. Lockhart, Canonsburg; L. W. Lewis, Sharpsburg; J. F. Muller, Freedom, Friend Buxton, Bakerstown, &c. &c., &c. This Rod is adopted by all who want Lightning Rods wherever it is introduced, and in an experience of ten years we have never known an instance of damage to a building protected by it, while many instances occur every year of damage to buildings upon which iron rods have been erected; so noticeable has this fact become in communities where attention is called to the subject, that we are almost daily called on to take down the iron rods and erect the Munson Copper Rod.
Price 30 cents per foot and $3 for points on each rod. Our workmen will go to any part of the country without extra charge.

LABOR AND LABORERS.

Men who undertake, in large towns, the task of subsisting families on the wages of mechanical or manufacturing labor, incur a task of serious magnitude. In periods of health and prosperity they find it difficult to bring the year about with a surplus that gives hope of comfort in old age. When trade is dull and wages low, and particularly when sickness supervenes, the discouragement is truly appalling. These are among the considerations which lead to the establishment of Trade Unions.

Nor are these Unions intrinsically objectionable. On the contrary, there is much to be said in their favor, when organized on a proper basis and conducted in a reasonable spirit. Every workman has a right to fix the price at which he will sell his industry, and to remain idle if he cannot get it. Any number of workmen have a right to combine together under an agreement not to labor for less than a stipulated compensation. But when they attempt, by any means whatsoever, to prevent other men from selling their labor, when, where, and at what rates they see fit, they become not simply trespassers upon the rights of those particular men, but enemies to society. There is no right more inherent, vital and inalienable than the right of a man to work, at what he will, for whom he will, and at what price he will. Whoever deprives him of that right is a robber. It does not matter under what pretences the deprivation is accomplished. To do it pretending to defend labor is only to make bad worse, for the hypocrasy of an alleged good motive is set up to cover an action which is indefensible, because wholly wrong. Nor is it much less criminal to traduce men as unskillful and unworthy who insist upon bargaining for their labor to suit themselves. The laws justly rule it slanderous to assail orally, and libellous to assail in print, a man's reputation in that whereby he legitimately earns bread for himself and family. This rule of law is the embodied common sense of the human race, garnered up through all the generations, and will remain law forever.

A butcher has a right to determine at how much a pound he will sell beef, pork and mutton. Any number of butchers, including all in a town or district, have a right, by agreement, to put up the price of meats. But if they should go farther and threaten with violence—much more, if they should use violence upon—butchers from a distance who should come in for the purpose of underselling them, they would become criminals and justly be exposed to such penalties as the laws prescribe. A landlord has a right to decide for how much he will rent his tenements, and, failing to get his price, to let them stand empty. Any number of landlords have a right to combine to put up rents to any mark they may see fit, and if the occupants will not pay the advance, to put them out. But they have no right to commit assault and battery on a landlord who is content with less than they are.

While, then, workmen either as individuals or in combination, have a right to fix the rate of compensation for which they will engage, they have no business to forget that it always takes two parties to make a bargain. Employers, either separately or in concert, have just the same right to determine what they will pay, as workmen have to determine what they will receive. If employers do not see fit to pay the rate demanded, that is their privilege. If workmen do not see proper to toil for the pay offered, they are only answerable to themselves for refusing. In this respect the rights of employers and workmen are exactly equal. There is, and can be, no oppression on either side. Labor is like any other commodity in the market, and, in the long run, the price of it will be settled by supply and demand just as the price of coal, iron or flour is settled. If there is too much labor of any sort on the market, or, which is the same thing, too much of a particular product, the price of it will recede, just as inevitably as streams subside after spring rains. No possible combinations among workmen can countervail the natural tendency. Either the demand must be increased or the supply shortened. Over the demand, producers have little or no control. Supply can be regulated, but only in two ways; either by part of the producers standing still for a sufficient length of time, or by a proper number of them forsaking the business and engaging in some employment not so over crowded.

But, it should not be forgotten that standing still is equivalent to a reduction of wages. A man who works for three dollars a day, and has steady employment the year round, earns precisely as much as the man who has four dollars a day, but is unemployed a fourth part of the time. Besides, he spends less unnecessarily. Being engaged, he does not incur those incidental expenses which seem unavoidable when one has nothing to do.

Take an illustration of this matter on a large scale. On the 12th of last January a strike occurred in this city and vicinity. At least four thousand skilled workmen and six thousand laborers were thereby thrown out of employment. It is a low estimate to put the average wages of these ten thousand men at three dollars a day when engaged. This amounts to thirty thousand dollars every twenty-four hours. The strike has already lasted seventy-four days, without counting any of the Sundays, involving a loss of Two Millions Two Hundred and Twenty Thousand Dollars in wages alone. This is an under-estimate rather than an over-estimate. How vast a sum to be taken out of the pockets of laboring men! It is as absolutely lost as it would be had the workmen possessed it in greenbacks, which had been taken from them, and consumed in fire. "Time is money." There is no possibility of recovering it. Nor does there yet appear any compensation growing out of the loss. If an advance of wages should result from the strike, and it should be immediately determinable how long the advance would last, then the gain could readily be computed. But no such advance has been yielded, nor is it likely to be.

Another view remains to be taken. The difference between the owners and workmen is two ninths; that is, the puddlers ask nine dollars a ton, while the proprietors offer seven dollars. Suppose the larger sum should be secured and remain the year out. Three months have been lost in the strike. On this basis one-fourth would be wasted to gain two-ninths. The dead loss is manifest to all who have even a superficial knowledge of numerical proportion. But it must be added, that by far the larger part of men thrown out by the strike do not demand or expect increased wages. They are idle because their employment is contingent on the working of the puddlers.

We are far from saying or believing there is no hardship in diminished wages. There is great difficulty in readjusting prices to the lessened premium on gold. Employers and workmen feel it alike. As the market prices of various products of labor fall off, either wages must diminish, or the employers must either stop or be bankrupted. Discreet owners are much more likely to stop, than to face certain ruin by going on. If nominal values recede, workmen have the advantage of purchasing personal or family supplies at lessened rates. The mischief is that the prices of all commodities will not go down together. It takes time to adjust the numerous discrepancies. This creates embarrassment; perhaps real distress; but if anybody sees how it is to be avoided, or how one portion of the community can manage to throw their share upon another, they surpass us in penetration. A good many perplexities await employers and employed before the descent shall be made from paper inflation to solid specie. Some employers will be driven into bankruptcy, and many employed will be sorely pinched. It is best for each class to be patient with the other, and seek to make the general burden as light as possible.

THAT APPEAL.

Two conjectures are indulged of the movement to test the Constitutionality of the Military Government Act.

1. That it is prompted by President JOHNSON, not with the idea the Supreme Court will grant the injunction prayed for, but to enable him to gain some eclat by the defence and enforcement of a law, the creation of which he resisted by all means at his command. This much is clear, the individuals making the application are his supporters, and the Attorney General, under his direction, is resisting with as much apparent earnestness as is exhibited on the other side.

2. That there is no collusion between the President and his friends who applied to the Court for its intervention; that he and they differ on this point, but so as not to disturb their cordial relations. In this view of the case, it is easy to see he is wiser and cooler than they are. If the Military Government Act shall be seriously resisted, either by the Supreme Court or the leaders of Southern opinion, it is highly probable a feeling will be created in Congress and throughout the North which will demand the passage of the Confiscation Bill, introduced to the House of Representatives, by Mr STEVENS, just before the adjournment. A definite plan of Reconstruction has been submitted to the revolted States, and if they refuse to accept, stronger measures will follow.

—The question involved in the Military Government Act is purely political, and pertains exclusively to Congress. The Supreme Court has nothing to do with it, and will, doubtless, mind its own business. If the Southern people wish to be restored to their old places in the Union, the way stands wide open, and a few months will suffice to accomplish that end. If such restoration is subordinated by them to the exoneration of the rebel leaders from all disabilities, they ought to comprehend their contumacy will serve to make those disabilities heavier rather than lighter.

NEW YORK is to hold a Constitutional Convention. The Albany Argus (dem.) insists the republicans ought to nominate FREDERICK DOUGLASS for member of that body. The New York Commercial (T. Weed) replies:

Frederick Douglass first, by a manly inspiration, emancipated himself, and then labored nobly for the emancipation of his race. Now his true mission and his best ambition should be to become a ruler among his own people. With such a man in Africa might we not look for the fulfillment of the promise that "Ethiopia shall stretch forth her hand?" Or in Hayti, or St. Domingo, if his ambition should take such a direction, how much could he do to improve and elevate his race. Or, if, locating in Central America, he should draw thence tens of thousands of freedmen, establishing there a republic, offering happy homes and remunerative employment for all who fail to find either here. What a rich reward and what a noble destiny awaits him?"

Why send Mr. DOUGLASS so far away, when four millions of his own race are citizens of this republic, as well as himself, and need his leadership for their benefit as well as for the advantage of the white population? The future of this nation depends in considerable degree upon the course of the black, and hence it would seem to be folly to expatiate the best and ablest among them.

SEVERAL gentlemen who have never been in Russian America are voluble in descanting on its value and desirableness. Enough of that sort have been heard. If anybody has been there, under circumstances to make his testimony worth anything, let him speak.

Child Murder in New York—Horrible Revelations.

The New York Board of Health has knowledge of more than thirty houses in that city wherein the sole business is the procuring of abortions. Four deaths of infants having been reported in one house, in a single day, Registrar Harris ordered an investigation, and the inspector found the mansion full of young and middle aged women from all parts of the country, all either advanced in pregnacy or suffering from operations which had but recently been performed. Here are the rules of the house, as posted in every lodging room:

1. Ladies entering this institution for confinement are not allowed below the parlor stairs.

2. No visitors, male or female, allowed in the rooms.

3. Each occupant is expected to keep her room in order, excepting when disabled by sickness; such notice to be sent to the Madame.

4. All persons leaving children at this institution can have no farther claim upon them, and must never trouble the Madame for said children or as to their whereabouts.

The Board of Health is seeking power to break up such establishments, which it does not now possess. It is said that the abortionists, being unable to obtain burial permits for the infants which they slaughter, now burn the remains in furnaces.

REFERRING to the secret treaties between Prussia, Bavaria and Baden, the Paris Temps says:

"There is no longer a south and north in Germany. We are no longer in face of a Prussia of 29,000,000 of people, but of 40,000,000, until, in the course of events, they become 50,000,000. And that there may be no mistake as to the exclusive military character of this powerful agglomeration—that there may remain no doubt that it is entirely in the hands of M. de Bismarck and his royal master—we learn that an amendment having for its object the security of the fundamental liberties of the German people, especially the freedom of the press and the right of public meeting, was yesterday rejected by the Parliament of the North. It only remains now for the King of Prussia to get the imperial crown decreed to him, and to invite the Austrian Germans to take their seats in the German Parliament. This will be the crowning of the edifice."

A Women with a Living Snake or Lizard in her Stomach.

The wife of Mr. Parker, who recently purchased an interest in the Anamosa stone quarry, has been made cognizant of the terrible truth that she has within her stomach a living snake or lizard. For the past five years she has suffered almost everything possible for a human being, and was supposed to be gradually dying from consumption. Some two weeks since, a German physician from Lisbon, Linn county, being in town, was requested to make an examination into her case, to relieve her intense sufferings. The physician visited her and became at once satisfied that their was a living animal within her stomach. On Thursday last, the starvation process was begun and continued for five days, little or no nourishment being taken. During this time the animal repeatedly moved upward and into the throat, producing terrible and almost fatal strangulation, and making it necessary to administer salt to drive it downward.

On Monday last the attempt was made to dislodge the loathsome creature by placing a pan of heated milk near the patient's mouth and permitting her to inhale the steam. A poultice of onions and garlic was applied to the stomach, but through misunderstanding the onions were cooked, and their strength thereby almost destroyed. The experiment, however, was tried, but the animal moved up only a short distance. The patient is greatly prostrated by her abstinence and terrible suffering, but another effort will soon be made to relieve her, although it seems almost certain that the animal, whatever it is, has grown so large as to make its egress through the throat impossible. The case is attracting great interest, and any new developments will be carefully noted for the benefit of our readers.—Anamosa (Iowa) Eureka.

Terrible Condition of Rome.

A letter from Rome in the Journal des Debats says:

"Here, through the effect of distance, the hero of Caprera has lost none of his prestige. Those who hurry to meet him, feel such confidence in his acts that they associate themselves with his projects without knowing what they are. The Roman Government is causing a very rigorous surveillance to be exercised at the railroad station here, and the same course must be observed at the frontiers. Apprehension is felt for the sudden appearance of the man who but lately inscribed on his flag 'Rome is death.' It is unnecessary to say that what is dreaded by the Government is ardently desired by the Romans. My opinion is, that for the moment, these fears and hopes are equally chimerical. Brigandage has assumed large proportions in the provinces of Velletri and Frosinone, and is even gaining the neighborhood of Viterbo. All the measures of precaution adopted up to this day have been inefficacious, either because badly conceived or ill executed. The audacity of the brigands is on the increase. They no longer content themselves with extorting money from their victims; they exact besides arms and munitions. Every day proprietors and farmers are informed by mysterious notices that the amount of their ransoms has been fixed; and nobody dares to risk himself far from his own house. This state of things profoundly afflicts the paternal heart of Pius IX., one of whose greatest afflictions is caused by the accusation, which he has always repudiated with indignation, of allowing the pest of brigandage to extend itself through the States. He has lately again given the most severe orders for its extirpation."

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

And is being cured every day by persons who use the Rev. E. A. WILSON'S GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION. Those who have used it are raising constantly to testify to its great merit, and the wonderful cures it has performed when their case was considered hopeless.

HEAR REASON!

STRENGTHEN THE DEFENCES.

When a garrison apprehends an attack from an outside enemy, what does it do? It STRENGTHENS THE DEFENCES. The human system, at this season of the year, is beleaguered by morbid influences. The atmosphere is full of them. Every change of weather lays the feeble open to their attacks. What is to be done in order to baffle these unseen, but ever active, foes? STRENGTHEN THE DEFENCES. Do you ask how? The answer is simply—the means within the reach of all: Reinforce the vital organs and the nervous system with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. Tone the stomach, regulate the bowels, rouse the sluggish liver, cheer the spirits, enrich and purify the vital current, with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. That's the way to STRENGTHEN THE DEFENCES, and render the capital of health impregnable. If you wish to escape bilious head-ache, intermittent fever, indigestion, and nervous visitations—to enjoy, in all its plentitude, the blessing of "a sound mind in a sound body," use this incomparable preventive and restorative. It preserves health in the healthy, and renews it in the weak and ailing.

PINUS ABIES, OR CANADA PINE.

There exudes from the inside bark of the White Pine, which grows abundantly in all the Eastern States and Canada a honey-like, sweet substance, highly imbued with that terebinthinate principle which has long been valued as a remedy, in various diseases of the human body, especially those of the mucous tissues. Dr. G. W. Sweet, of Boston, has compounded from this material a medicine called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND; which has met with great favor in those maladies where the turpentines and balsams are supposed to be valuable.

HOW DO YOU MAKE YOUR TEA?—This is a question often asked by one lady friend of another, as they partake of the pleasant beverage, many thinking their friend has a peculiar way of making tea that gives it the pleasant flavor. But after hearing all about it, they very often exclaim: "Why that is just the way I make tea, but yours is far better." Now, the true reason is in the original quality of the tea. Many persons think that when they have tasted Black tea once, or Green tea once, then they know all about tea; but they are about as near correct as if after seeing one yard of calico a person was to assert they knew all about calico; just so if a person is told the tea so much admired is Green tea, and they send to the store and get Green tea, they may get something that looks green, but being made to sell, no person could make a good cup of tea from a pound of it. The right plan for every one to pursue who wishes a good cup of tea is to purchase the teas only from a dealer in the article, who is a judge of tea, and who pays some attention to the wants of his customers. As I have been long connected with the tea trade, and having lately procured a large stock of all kinds, I am prepared to please every taste with tea. Some persons want a dark, strong tea, without regard to flavor. To such I sell my Black, at 80 cents per pound. Others, want a clear tea, without regard to smell. To such I recommend my Young Hyson tea at $1.00, or Hyson Skin tea at $1.00, or Hyson Poko tea at $1.00. Others want finer flavored. To such I recommend my higher priced teas, of which I have a large assortment bought lately at very low prices, and which I am now selling at least 20 cents per pound below the usual prices. Some persons like a pleasant, clear, high flavored Green tea. To such I recommend my Young Hyson at $1.80 cents per pound. This is the same tea I have been selling at $1.00, and which [illegible]

MANUFACTURES OF PITTSBURGH.

ALLEGHENY CITY, April 5, 1867.

EDITORS PITTSBURGH GAZETTE:—Having given in my last letter several rules, or formula, to gain the proportions of steam boilers, i. e., to get, as we might say, the superficial proportions, we must now turn our attention to the thickness of plates used, the way of joining the plates, the materials, and style of construction. The thickness of boiler plates used throughout the world vary considerably. For a forty-eight shell, intended for a pressure of one hundred and twenty pounds to the square inch: the plates of the American boilers vary from one-fourth to three-eighths, those of French and Belgian boilers from one-fourth to five-eighths, while those of English boilers from ¼ to ½, the thickness varying, however, with the strength of the iron used: the best American being the toughest, since, according to Clark, the best Yorkshire (Lowmoor) plates will bear a "tensile strain" of twenty-four tons per square inch, the best Staffordshire (Thorneycroft) twenty-one tons, whilst the best American will withstand the enormous strain of thirty-one tons per square inch of section, and as the manufacture of American iron is improving considerably in some places, it will come into almost exclusive use in this country (i. e. if people will not look at first cost; the greatest evil of this neighborhood.)

A great deal has been written, and much more controversy will yet arise, as to the use of the so called thin plates, in the manufacture of boilers; and it is our bounden duty, as far as our experience and knowledge can aid us, to denominate the respective values of thin and thick plates. In one of Sir Isambard Brunel's experiments at Woolwich, some years ago, on riveted joints, it is stated that ⅜ inch riveted plates were practically as strong as 7-16 or ½ inch ones; this is the case with longitudinal seams; but circular seams are different, and the strength increases with the thickness of plate. The strength of cylindrical parts of boilers is due mainly to the permanency of the joints, and this is owing more to the quality than the thickness of the iron used. Thin iron is more likely to be compressed and solidified when in the rolls, and therefore must be necessarily more pure, sound and stronger than thick iron. A consideration, however, must be made in regard to different brands, and as they differ in the strain they can bear, we will only take the best, i. e. the brand that has withstood by experiment the greatest strain. The strength of boilers is in direct proportion to the thickness of the plates, and inversely as to their diameters. For practical reasons the plates cannot be much less than ¼ inch thick, nor more than ½ inch. If thin they cannot be made properly tight, and if thick considerable difficulty is found in riveting them. The rending force which a cylindrical boiler will bear without permanently damaging its structure may be considered equal to double the tensile strength of the iron employed. The ordinary tensile strength of good maleable iron is 56,000 pounds, one-third of this, however, may be regarded as the extreme force it should bear, say 18,000 pounds; but yet from this sum liberal deductions necessarily must be made for difference in quality of iron, and also to bring the pressure within the limit of safety. The following numbers representing the strain per square inch of section we have reduced for this purpose:

	Pr. sq. in. of sec.
Common Yorkshire plates	3,500
Best do. do.	5,000
Common Staffordshire plates	3,500
Best do. do.	4,000
Best American	5,500

The thickness of plates, as to their durability, has an important bearing on the just cost and maintenance of boilers; no definite experiments have as yet been made (to our knowledge) in this direction; although it is certainty true that ½ Lowmoor plates are successful in this country, whilst ½ of the same brand fail after a few months' usage in England. This plainly shows that thin plates are best; the wear and decomposition of fire plates is trifling in connection with the blistering, furrowing and cracking. Blistering and cracking only occur by reason of intense heat; if this heat be conducted directly to the water as fast as it comes to the plate, the temperature of no part of the plate will in any way exceed that of the water, which at 120 pounds is 350 degrees. Plates that blister and crack certainly fail, because they do not convey the heat with proper rapidity. If plates were infinitely thin they would conduct the heat infinitely fast, for instance, water may be boiled in a piece of paper over as intense an heat as that underneath a boiler, and the inflammable substance will not be destroyed; it conducts the heat practically as fast as it receives it. Joints and double thicknesses of metal give way sooner than thinner parts, and stay and rivet heads, for the same reason; if the strength could be preserved ½ inch plates would be adequate.

Of course a great deal must be taken into consideration of the diameters of boilers, as to thickness of plates, because we would not like your readers to run away with the idea that scant ¼ iron is suitable, say for 10 diameter boiler. Oh, no! the thickness of plate must increase as the diameter performs the same operation. Boilers of large diameter are not much in vogue in this part of the country. This style has its evils the same as all grades, and as we do not wish to argue the respective merits of large versus small ideas, we will not offer our opinion on either; but may state that the style of boiler most in use in the ironworks of England, France and Belgium is of the class commonly known as "the egg—ended upright cylindrical boiler," of the average dimensions of 6 inches to 10 inches diameter, 30 inches high, and with an internal flue 4 inches diameter from top to bottom. These boilers are generally made of ⅜ inch or 7-16 plates, mostly double riveted in their seams, and exceedingly well stayed inside. This style of boiler is peculiarly applicable for rolling mills, not only on account of the ease steam is generated by the flues of the puddling furnaces, but also on account of taking up so little room. These boilers may be placed in any odd corners, and this alone is of great importance, where cramped up for room. There is a style of boilers built in Orleans [France,] of an oval section, being 3 or 4 times greater in their vertical than in their horizontal sections.

The best and most approved formula for finding the amount of pressure per square inch the shell of a cylindrical boiler will stand with safety, is to double the strain allowable on the iron per square inch of section, and multiply the sum by the thickness of the boiler plate, divide the product by the diameter of the boiler in inches, and the quotient will give the pressure in pounds per inch the boiler may safely bear. We must note, however, whether the boiler be single or double riveted, as the two styles vary much in strength; a seam single riveted will bear two-thirds of the weight that will break the plate, whilst double riveted will bear four-fifths, providing the rivets be properly spaced and proportioned. (This we will treat upon hereafter.)

In large boilers with internal flues, especially when the boiler be of considerable length, the flues require to be carefully strengthened. In some experiments, Mr. Fairbairn, of Manchester, England, made on a boiler of 7 inches in diameter and 80 inches long, with two three inch diameter flues, one of the flues collapsed with 100 pounds per square inch, whilst the shell would have required 300 pounds to rend it. He recommends rigid rings, either shrunk or riveted on the flues at intervals, as they would be calculated to strengthen the conductors considerably. There is no mistake that in boilers of 16 inches or 20 inches long something is wanted besides the flange the flues have upon each boiler head to keep them from swagging. This is a great evil, but can easily be remedied by cross stays, or such like helps. The weight alone of, say a 14 inch flue 20 inches long, will give considerable strain upon each boiler head, when the flue has no support inside. Too much stress cannot be placed upon this, as the flues being, as we might say, the chief conductors, the greatest attention should be paid to them, especially in internal fired boilers (Cornish), which when properly manufactured are, according to our ideas, as good, economical, and as safe as any in the world. We have heard of instances in this neighborhood of this class of boiler being tried and pronounced a failure; but we believe that they were imperfectly made, and we do not see why they should fail if they were properly manufactured. If Cornish boilers are fallacies, it seems strange that so many should have been used and still are manufactured and in constant use in Europe.

I remain yours, &c.,
PERCEVAL BECKETT, M. E.

Perils of Frontier Life.

FLAKE'S Galveston Bulletin gives the following account of an adventure in Texas:

"The El Paso stage had stopped for supper at Live Oak creek, not far from Lancaster, on the outward trip. The mules had been unhitched, and were being led to water one hundred yards distant, when about forty Indians, concealed under the banks of the creek, opened fire. The men with the mules instantly retreated to the stage, and the whole party fought the Indians two hours, before dark, beating them off and killing three. It was decided to remain and fight again in the morning if the Indians chose to renew it. Just as the Mexican cook announced breakfast, a reinforcement of over two hundred Indians came up the road. But seven rounds remained, and this resulted in the safety of the whole party.

"It was decided to abandon the stage and animals and retreat into the mountains since so little ammunition remained, although some still desired to remain and fight, believing it afforded a better chance of escape. Finally they started up the hill. The Indians delayed the pursuit, perhaps twenty minutes, in securing the mules and plundering the stage. This is described, as seen by the escaping men from the hill top, as a fiendish and horrible scene. One of them who has been through the whole war says he never saw any thing so like the description of hell as that pell mell charge of human wolves, tumbling over each other in their eagerness to seize upon the contents of that poor enough coach, and its long-eared but defenceless mules.

"The Mexican hid under a rock, after a short run, and the Indians passed him, thus permitting his return to the settlement a day and a half in advance of his companions. After passing over the hill they turned at right angles and crept down a ravine to a bluff, from the side of which grew some scrub cedars. Penetrating this jungle they found a cave which concealed them until dark. The Indians were last seen by the Mexican pursuing in the direction taken by the other seven. At night the fugitives started on foot and lived for five days on a hawk, a dove, and a mule rabbit. The dove, divided into seven parts, served for one day; the rabbit was a feast, and the hawk was consumed, bill and claws. Meeting the next stage on the fifth day they got provisions, and safely arrived in the settlements without having lost a man."

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
SATURDAY, April 6, 1867. }

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 132⅝; Eighty-one bonds, 109; Five Twenties, old, 109⅝; do, '65, 108; do, new, 107⅛; Seven Thirties, 105¾. Michigan Southern Railroad, 71¼; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 74⅝; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 92⅜; Erie, 55¾; Chicago and Rock Island, 89¼; Chicago and Northwestern, 34¼ do preferred, 62¼; New York Central, 101¾; Reading, 101¾.

The money market for unexceptional paper is easier, but second grade is difficult to negociate, and capitalists are very shy in buying paper that has over sixty days to run. There is more disposition to buy the lower rated Railroad bonds where interest is promptly paid. The new State loan is much inquired for, and parties now regret not to have handed in their bids for the bonds. Since the award of the offers to Eastern bankers, bonds have advanced in their hands from 1½ to 2¾ per cent.

Railroad stocks are lower this afternoon, and gold is somewhat firmer from the opening this morning. The demand is light, since here it is hoped, that 129 will most likely be the rate before May 1st.

—The monthly statement of the public debt has been made public. During the past month there has been a decrease of $126,800 on the six per cent bonds of 1867 and 1868, and an increase of $200 on the six per cents of 1881. Five Twenty bonds have been issued to the amount of $34,723,000, making a total increase in gold debt of $34,526,400, and augmenting the annual coin interest charge $2,071,584. Of the debt bearing currency interest, there has been a net decrease of $52,748,100; of the three year compounds, $2,280,200 have been redeemed, while the Seven Thirty notes have been decreased $50,467,900.

The matured debt, not presented for payment, has been reduced $1,751,630 75. The volume of legal tender notes has beem diminished $818,397; of fractional currency there has been cancelled $297,227 26, and the amount of gold certificates has been decreased $5,785,580. The net decrease in the total debt is $35,873,915 01. The coin balance in the Treasury has been decreased $1,320,551 90, and the currency has been lessened $18,223,541 75.

—National banks are now obliged to prepare four different returns. These are the weekly return to the Clearing-house, the semi-annual return (January and July) to the Government of the average amount of notes and circulation, and of the average amount of deposits, and of the average amount of capital stock beyond the amount invested in United States stocks for the preceding six months, the quarterly (first Monday in January, April, July and October) return of resources and liabilities; the monthly (first Tuesday) return to Comptroller of the condition of the banks in respect to the average amount of loans and discounts, specie, and other lawful money; deposits and other circulation.

—Our New York exchanges show a gradual improvement in general business in that city. Notwithstanding the general outcry among wholesale merchants about the backwardness of trade, the retail dealers acknowledge that on their part there is no cause of complaint. A pressure of buyers is reported in the leading dry goods houses. The Independant says:

"The trade has come at length; but too late, it is feared, to make up fully for what has been lost. The months, the best part of the season, are lost. Probably not more than one-half or two-thirds the business has been done in the aggregate which was expected. There must now be a great rush, or many goods must go over to the coming season. The country is not generally overstocked; but merchants in the interior have learned by experience that there is no use in accumulating goods for a future market. They will buy as they sell, and they watch the weather, the price of gold, foreign news the cotton market, and other matters which affect their business, with most becoming sagacity."

—The receipts from customs during March were unusually large, amounting to sixteen million dollars. Last year, during the same month, they were only a trifle over eleven million dollars. This great increase is a sure sign that our merchants have felt encouraged to prepare for an active and extensive revival of trade.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
SATURDAY, April 6, 1867. }

The produce markets have been fairly active during the past week, there having been a fair volume of business in the aggregate, though the stringency in money matters has a tendency to check speculation. Flour has still fur her advanced, consequent upon the advices from Chicago, and Grain, also, is firm with an upward tendency. In Provisions and Groceries there is a fair jobbing trade, though prices are unchanged.

GRAIN—No transactions in Wheat, and but little in this market. Corn is in demand, and prime Yellow may be quoted at 85 to 90. Oats firm and advancing—may be quoted at 60, in store—sale of 2 car loads on private terms. Prime Spring Barley is in demand at $1,15. Rye is firm and in demand at $1.45.

FLOUR—The market is again somewhat excited and prices are tending upward. We now quote at $13,50 to $14 for Spring Wheat; $15 to $16 for Winter Wheat, and $17 to $18 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is firm at $8 to $8.25.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm, with sales at 10 to 10¼ for Shoulders; 12 for Ribbed Sides; 13 for Clear Sides, and 15¾ to 16 for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is selling at 13 to 13½ for prime kettle rendered. Mess Pork, $23,50 to $23.75.

SEEDS—Cloverseed has still further advanced, and we now quote at $11 to $12 per bush. Timothy Seed is quiet and unchanged at $3. Flaxseed is in demand at $2,85, though, until within the past day or two, $3 has been the price.

POTATOES—There is a continued good demand, and the market may be quoted firm at $3 to $3,25 per bbl—the outside figure for prime Peach Blows.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
SATURDAY, April 6, 1867. }

CRUDE—There was but a single transaction reported to-day, one hundred barrels (42 gravity) at 7c. Under the influence of heavy arrivals and unfavorable reports from the east, the market was dull and weak to-day, and holders generally were more anxious to sell. Spot oil was offered freely at 7c, but so far as we could learn, there were but few buyers above 6¼ to 6⅜. For May and June, sales could possibly be effected at 7, but sellers are asking a fraction more for these months. Compared with yesterday and the day before, the market was remarkably quiet and dull, and buyers evidently had the upper hand. The decline in Liverpool is operating unfavorably on the Philadelphia and New York markets, and stagnation there always produces a corresponding result here. The most remarkable feature we have to notice to-day is the heavy arrivals.

REFINED—There was rather more inquiry for bonded oil to-day, though apparently the market is quiet and unchanged. Sale of 500 bbls standard white, for April at 27; 1000 for May and 500 for June, at 28¼; 500 for May, 500 for June and 500 for July, on private terms—all delivered in Philadelphia. We are cognizant of an offer to buy standard white on the spot, at 21 cts, and offers to buy prime light straw to white at 25½ to 26, delivered in Philadelphia. Free oil is quiet and unchanged.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

Aladdin Oil Co.	1,900	Lockart & Frew	3,300
Mawhinney & Co	2,800	Jackson & Bro.	1,160

RIVER NEWS.

The river was receding slowly last evening with scant thirteen feet in the channel by the Allegheny marks. The weather yesterday was pleasant, though very stormy at times. Business is moderately active at the landing, though there is plenty of room for improvement.

The Glendale after another successful voyage to St. Louis, reached the wharf at noon yesterday. The Maggie Hays, from Cincinnati, and the Armenia, from Saint Louis, are due here to-day.

Quite a number of towboats got out with tows of coal during Saturday and yesterday, among others the huge Ajax. It is possible that others may get out to-day.

The America and Argosy left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Friday, and the R. C. Gray was advertised to follow on Saturday.

The Ezra Porter left for Cincinnati on Saturday afternoon, with a fair freight list and quite a number of passengers. There were no other departures aside from the regular packets. The Maggie Hays, from Cincinnati, with a big trip, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

The Dubuque, Capt. Parker, will positively leave for the Upper Mississippi to-morrow, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. The Columbia, Captain Reed, is announced to follow on Saturday.

The Echo got in from Oil City on Saturday morning, with one of the best trips of the season, and returned again in the evening.

The towboat Little Jim Rees sunk a barge of railroad iron on Saturday morning, by coming in contact with the first pier from the Allegheny side of the Hand Street Bridge. It was en route, we believe, for St. Louis, and was to be used probably, on the Pacific Railroad.

The Ida Rees, Capt. Joe Brown, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville, leaving about the middle of the week. The Ida is an excellent freight steamer, and she will doubtless remain permanently in the trade.

The Lorena, Capt Sam Shuman, is now in turn for St. Louis, and the Leonora, Capt. Davis, will be the first boat out for Nashville—indeed, she is the only one at present loading for that point.

The R. C. Gray was announced to leave Louisville for Pittsburgh on Wednesday. The Sherman is en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh.

Considerable anxiety is manifested to hear from the Great Republic since she left New Orleans. We expect to hear of her doing some pretty tall running between there and Cairo.

Capt. Stockdale has commenced operations in oil again, and has taken an office in Dalzell's new building, corner of Irwin street and Duquesne Way. During the last few months Captain S. has superintended the construction of two new boats for the mountain trade, and this will account for his absence during that time.

The Louisville Journal of Friday says: Yesterday morning the towboat A. J. Baker came down from Pittsburgh with a tow of seven barges of coal for Memphis. In attempting to take all her barges into the canal at once, she got too far out in the river, and the strong current carried her, barges and all, hard and fast upon the rock. Three of the barges filled with water, and are in a critical situation. It is doubtful whether they can be saved. The coal belonged to Sharp, McDonald & Co., of Pittsburgh. When we left the river last evening the hands on the boat were throwing the coal overboard to lighten her, and had a line stretched to the shore, but had not succeeded in getting off.

We learn also that the towboat Simpson Horner sunk two coal boats and a barge at Fredonia, near Leavenworth on last Tuesday. The amount was over 55,000 bushels, and belonged to Horner, Wood & Co., of Pittsburgh.

George Butts, a lad fourteen years old, employed as third cook on the Yorktown, fell overboard from that boat at Portland, on the Missouri, while drawing a bucket of water, and was drowned, despite the most energetic efforts to save him.

The snow is from two to three feet deep on the level through many sections of Wisconsin, Minnesota, &c. This, says the St. Cloud Journal, insures a good rise for getting down logs.

The St Louis Democrat says: Capt. Hiram K. Haslett is now engaging freight for the Luella, Carrie and Ida Stockdale. These steamers were built especially for the mountain trade.

The steamer J. P. Webb struck a snag coming down the Wabash below Hodge's mill, twenty miles above the mouth, and sunk to her lower deck. She is not much damaged.

We extract the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday: Capt. D. H. Swaney is here, and is loading the Armadillo for Memphis. We regret to announce that Mr. Chas. Lorenz, her clerk, is suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, but is slowly improving. Capt. John N. Shunk and John A. Williamson left in last night's train for New York, in order to attend the convention of steamboatmen which convenes in that city April 8th.

The Leclaire and Argosy arrived at Cincinnati on Thursday, and the America and Argosy were advertised to leave there for Pittsburgh on Friday. The Maggie Hays with a good trip left there for this port on Thursday.

The Cairo correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says: About one-fourth of all the steamers on the Western waters seem to be "going to the mountains," and I am afraid some of them will wish the "mountains to fall on them," "to hide them from the face of" their creditors, before the trip is ended.

The towboat Antelope, with a tow of iron ore, was to have left St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Thursday.

The Louisville Journal, of Monday, says: The Tigress came down from Pittsburgh on Tuesday with a tow of three coal boats and six barges for Memphis belonging to Mr. John Dippold. The barges were taken safely over the Falls, but in attempting to take the coal boats through the canal one of them broke loose and sunk just at the head of the canal. It lies straight with the wall, and is not in the way of boats at all. The boat contained about 20,000 bushels of coal, and will probably prove a total loss.

The local Inspectors of New Orleans have just issued the following important notice concerning locked safety valves:

All parties concerned are hereby notified that this board has received instructions from the Supervising Inspectors of this (the Tenth) District, that the provisions of of the third section of the act of Congress, approved July 25, 1866, relating to "locked safety valves," will hereafter be strictly enforced, and no steamer will pass inspection without being in conformity with said law. The following locked safety valves have been approved by the Supervising Inspector, viz: "The Copie valve, the "America" valve, the "Excelsior" valve.

The Nashville Dispatch of Thursday says: The steamers Fanny Brandies, Gen. Sigel, Alpha, A. Baker and Alert—all up river boats—were yesterday united in a joint stock company. The Fanny Brandies was valued at $10,000; the others at $8500 each. A Superintendent was to be appointed to control and manage the line, the net earnings to be divided pro rata. Old Tippecanoe and Commodore Hughes were spoken of as superintendent, and Captain Cabler as Treasurer.

The Fanny Brandies went into the above arrangement on the supposition that her sale, made a few days ago, had miscarried; but Capt. D. Smedley, her purchaser, came forward during the afternoon, consummated the trade, and took possession of her. This will make the joint stock concern so much the better for those who remain in it.

The St. Louis Democrat says: The Richmond has tried her speed at Louisville, and runs very fast. The Strader's engines, which she carries, and were constructed at Cincinnati many years ago, are found to be in very good condition.
